DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. In response to the amendment filed 7 July 2003, paper number 5, the following has occurred: Claims 11-22 have been cancelled. Claims 23 and 24 have been added. Now claims 1-10, 23, and 24 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 23 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The terms "relatively" and "gentle" in claims 23 and 24 are relative terms which render the claims indefinite. The terms "relatively" and "gentle" are not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2837

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-3,5, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Payne (US 5,076,076).

Payne teaches:

Claim 1: A DC motor control method comprising discontinuously reducing a velocity command value of a motor within a deceleration region (Fig. 11:190).

Claim 2: when a mechanism arrives at a predetermined position (Fig. 1: 0.5 seconds), the velocity command is discontinuously reduced (Col. 16:6-31).

Claim 3: the velocity command value represents a curve (Fig. 12: 190b) in a period before the mechanism arrives at a predetermined position (Fig. 12: 0.5 secs), and the velocity profile is a constant value (Fig. 12: 191b) in a period after the mechanism arrives at the predetermined position (Fig. 12: 0.5 secs).

Claim 5: A program product including program code for realizing a process for discontinuously reducing a velocity command value of a motor within a deceleration region (Fig. 8a).

Claim 6: A storage medium storing a program for realizing a process for discontinuously reducing a velocity command value of a motor within a deceleration region (Fig. 3:40; Col. 6: 24-26).

Art Unit: 2837

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Payne as applied to claim 3 above, and further in view of Kazuya (JP 2000-188894).

Claim 4: Payne teaches the limitations of claim 3. Referring to claim 4, Payne does not teach a cubic function curve profile. Kazuya teaches a cubic function curve profile. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the apparatus taught by Payne to use a cubic function as taught by Kazuya. The advantage of this would be the ability to gradually increase acceleration.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 7-10 allowed.

Claims 23 and 24 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 2837

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. They are: Erdman (US 4,556,827), Werner et al (US 5,220,259), Ishii (US 5,079,489), Popat (US 5,760,558), Nakamura et al (US 4,127,799), and Bitto et al (US 3,644,812).

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
